Manhood: How Lost, how Regained!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, &c.; also Consumption, Emphysema, and Piles, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.
Price in a sealed envelope, only 6 cts.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.
Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

The Cotton Tax—Movement of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Memphis several days since, the following correspondence was read:

MEMPHIS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
MEMPHIS, TENN., Nov 3, '66

To Hon. Reverdy Johnson, Baltimore:

SIR:—I have seen in the newspapers a short communication from you, expressing the opinion that the law of Congress imposing a tax of three cents per pound on cotton, was unconstitutional, &c.

The Chamber of commerce in this city have it in contemplation, to propose to like associations of other cities, to raise a fund for the purpose of employing an attorney and testing the questions before the supreme court of the United States. As they would not wish to make an unfortunate or fruitless effort in the premises, they would, in a great measure, be governed by your opinion of the result, and if not incompatible, I would be glad to know if you still entertain the same opinion as that referred to. If so, I would thank you to indicate the fee and terms on which you would conduct and argue the case. A test case could be arranged here, and probably by agreement with the United States district attorney, carried before the supreme court at an early day. I am sir,

Your obedient servant,

T. A. NELSON, President.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7, 1866

SIR:—Yours of the 3d is received. The opinion to which you refer, that I expressed as to the unconstitutionality of the cotton tax, I still entertain. As to the question, it seems to me to be so free of difficulty, when it is well understood, that I shall have every hope of bringing the supreme court to the same conclusion if I argue it before them. Very respectfully your obedient serv't, Reverdy Johnson.

On the reading of the above, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, In view of the opinion expressed by eminent legal gentlemen, that the tax of three cents per pound on cotton, which is now being paid by the producers, is unconstitutional and illegal, therefore

Resolved, That a committee of three members of the Memphis chamber of commerce, be appointed to make the necessary arrangements, and employ attorneys to test the legality of said law, provided, a sufficient sum can be raised by subscription to pay such retaining, and contingent fee as may be necessary to insure the services of Hon. Reverdy Johnson, and some other eminent legal gentlemen

Resolved, That said committee solicit the co-operation of other chambers of commerce in raising subscription from the cotton growers in the different sections of the country.

Railroad Accident.

A correspondent of the Selma Messenger, in giving an account of the recent accident on the Ala. & Tenn. R. Railroad, by which one man, Mr. Gillan Finley of Bibb county, was killed, and several others badly wounded, concludes with the following statement of the condition of the road:

I cannot close this communication without condemning the management of the lessee. He leased the road, as the people generally thought, for the purpose of putting it in good repair and completing the connection to Dalton. As yet there has not been a new coach put on the road, not a piece of new iron has replaced the old and badly worn, and but precious little repair has been done on the road. The lessee, instead of purchasing cross-ties and replacing the broken and rotten ones with them, got into a squabble with the men who were making these nine feet ties, about the price. The Breed company wanted the ties at thirty-five cents apiece, if I have been rightly informed, when the makers demanded fifty cents. The company refused to buy them, hoping, perhaps, to force the makers to their terms by this means but after a trial of a few months, failed in their object, and are now putting in about two hundred cross-ties to the mile! They might just as well put in none almost.

The road is now, with their seventeen mile schedule, exceedingly dangerous; and to prove this, I need but say the down passenger as well as the up passenger yesterday ran off near this place. The road between this point and Selma is in wretched order and unless repairs are speedily and well made, the life of all riding over the road will be in constant danger. The only way for these evils to be corrected is for the Selma press to warn the travelling public of the great danger and wretched condition of the road. If the lessees are unable to put it in repair and proper order they should not receive public patronage. If the injured parties will sue for damages and make the lessee pay fifty or one hundred thousand dollars, perhaps he will put the road in safe order.

Prices Tumbling.

From the Cincinnati Gazette, 13th. J.

From every quarter we have advices of declining markets, for almost every article of produce. All speculative feeling is for the time suspended, and operators act as if the markets were believed to be bottomless. In New York, yesterday, beef cattle sold at about what they cost in Kentucky, and hogs brought less than they were bought for in Chicago or Cincinnati. Mess pork, which two weeks ago sold as high as $35, is down to $24 75; lard has fallen from 22c. to 14c. for prime; flour, wheat rye, corn oats, etc., have been falling steadily, though still comparatively high. Dry goods are also declining, as are also groceries, and finally fancy railroad stocks, which were going up rapidly a few days ago, are tumbling.

This news from New York has its effect of course, throughout the west, and the great leveling process is everywhere experienced.

Our dispatches from Lexington, the great stock market of Central Kentucky reported a decline in sheep yesterday from 6c. to 4 1/2c; hogs from 8c 5/8c; cattle from 7 1/2 to 5 1/2; horses twenty per cent, and mules $14 per head.

There is a bottom to the markets, of course, and the indications are that it will soon be reached. The practice of hoarding produce which was rendered practicable by the abundance and cheapness of money, rendered this break in the market inevitable. To such a point had values been carried that exports were not only checked, but we were actually re-imprinting leading articles of produce from England. Now the tables are turned, and our foreign exports are increasing.

But money being plenty, the probability is that a violent reaction will take place, and capitalists will again attempt to monopolize stocks and force prices up, compelling consumers and producers to unite in paying the fiddler. It will not be so easy to do this, however, as it was a year ago. Within the last six months hoarding produce has not paid. Within the last sixty days it has certainly proved a disastrous business.

And now let consumers see that they get the advantage of the decline. Let them bear in mind when they go to their butcher, their baker or their grocer, that there has been a pretty general decline in prices recently; that hogs have fallen thirty-three per cent; beef in proportion, and that flour is full a dollar a barrel lower than it was a week ago.

A SINGULAR INCIDENT.—The Marioposa (Cal.) Gazette, of the 23d ult., relates the following: "E. G. Hall, of Hornitos, killed a Chinaman on Friday of last week, under very peculiar circumstances. He heard a noise in his hen-house, and got up and went there, when he met a Chinaman in the act of stealing his chickens. In the attempt to seize the fellow, Hall accidentally got one hand in the Chinaman's mouth. With the other he seized hold of his cue, and twisted it around his neck, and hung on. The severe biting of his hand caused Hall to faint. Mrs. Hall, thinking her husband was gone rather longer than was necessary, and fearing that something had happened, went to the chicken-house, where she found Hall and the Chinaman on the ground; the former had fainted, the latter had choked to death. It required considerable effort to pry open the dead Chinaman's mouth to relieve Hall's hand. This was one of the strangest deadly encounters we ever recollect hearing of."

Introduction of Shad in Southern Rivers.

Dr. W. C. Darrill, writing from Savannah to the editor of the Southern Medical and Surgical Journal, says: "I am gratified to say that I have fully established the White Shad in the Alabama River, where they are as large and as fine as our own shad."

"Now that it has become a fixed fact that the shad prosper at the mouth of the Alabama we may readily infer that they will equally prosper at the mouth of the Mississippi River, and probably of all the rivers discharging into the Gulf of Mexico. I hope to test this another year. I would have done so this Spring, but that my fishermen disappointed me. As soon as I was satisfied that there were distinctive, though minute, differences between the shad of Savannah and the Ogeechee Rivers, I felt confident of establishing the White Shad in the Alabama River. These differences were pointed out by our fisherman in 1846, and in 1848 I planted the foetundated eggs in a small tributary of the Etowah, and in 1851 or '52 the fish were taken in the traps at Wetumpka and Tuscahooosa.

POETRY.

[From the Home Journal.]
PASSING OVER JORDAN.

BY P. B. MARVIN.
Hark! I hear the harps eternal Ringing on the further shore,
As I near those swelling waters,
With their deep and solemn roar.
And my soul, though stained with sorrow,
Fading as the light of day,
Is passing swiftly o'er those waters,
To the city far away.
Souls have passed before me saintly,
To that land of perfect rest,
And I hear them singing faintly,
In the mansion of the blest.
Just beyond the river flasheth
Jehu-Sulem of my God,
Where the white wave, rising, splasheth
On the shore by angels trod.
Stop! I see the boatman nearing;
See, the snowy sail is set,
And the oars are floating idly,
And the sail is drifting wet.
Call my father! call my mother!
Tell them that the boatman's here;
And another, oh! another,
Unto whom my soul was dear.
Call them quick, for I am passing,
Through the valley of the grave;
I am passing with the boatman,
O'er the deep and solemn wave.

A WONDERFUL HOBBY-HORSE.—The Washington Star mentions an automaton horse, invented by Wm. F. Godwin, of that city, for exhibition at the Paris Exposition. The contrivance is said to be very ingenious, and is worked by machinery inside. The horse, when wound up, will start off at a slow trot, for instance, drawing a considerable load, as a boy in a small wagon, and will move for thirty minutes, putting its feet down with all the vim of a regular 2:30 trotter.

A NEW SWINDLE.—The New Lisbon, Ohio, Buckeye State says:

A newly married couple, in bridal costume, recently stopped in this place to spend a few days of the honeymoon. The groom borrowed $20 of an accommodating gentleman, and then mysteriously disappeared. The bride wept and tore her hair at thus being left out money and without friends, and the sympathizing inhabitants of our town contributed liberally for her relief, about one hundred dollars being donated. She then disappeared, and it has since transpired that the promising couple had played the same game in several other towns in the State.

Queen Victoria Replies to a Suitor.
Soon after the death of Prince Albert the sooty Emperor Theodoros, of Abyssinia, hearing of that melancholy event, and moved probably by sympathy for the unfortunate widow, sent to Queen Victoria a formal proposal of marriage. The offer was treated with silent contempt. His sable Majesty, after waiting some time, came to the conclusion that he was intentionally insulted, and, out of revenge, seized the principle Englishmen then within his dominions. By the latest accounts there is reason to fear that all the prisoners, as well as an envoy sent out to their rescue, have been put to death.—Queen Victoria has been induced to dispatch, to her savage suitor an autograph letter, in the hope of securing the release of the subjects if they are not already released by death.

What Next?—And Next?

"What use will the Radicals make of their victory, now they have won it?" is discussed by the New York "World." After passing over the veto of the President, their civil rights bill, and their freedmen's bureau bill, they could proceed no farther except by proposing amendments to the constitution. But amendments being nullities till ratified by three-fourths of the States, the resistance of the South is more effective in respect to them than, than the presidential veto is in respect to ordinary laws. The veto can be overcome by two-thirds of both houses, but the negative of thirteen States (Kentucky, Maryland and Delaware make up the thirteen) on a proposed amendment, can in no way be overcome till the number of States reaches fifty-two—a larger number than we are ever likely to have. The South, then has nothing worse to fear, as a consequence of the late elections, than a protracted exclusion from Congress. Negro suffrage cannot be forced on them except by an amendment to the Constitution, which they can checkmate. New penalties for treason are equally impossible, by the prohibition to pass ex post facto laws. The old penalties have been remitted by the President's proclamation of amnesty and his individual pardons. The State governments which have been formed in the South cannot be upset, because Congress never comes in contact with them except in judging of their competency to furnish credentials to members of that body. Congress having already done its utmost against the South that section has nothing to fear in consequence of these elections beyond what it already suffers.

Congress being powerless to wreak additional vengeance on the South, will probably concentrate their hostility upon the President. If they could replace him by a Radical, they might admit the Southern representatives without endangering their power and thus escape the odium—an odium which will grow—of preventing a restoration of the Union. With every Southern senator and representative in his seat, the Radicals would still have a majority, both with this Congress and the next. But so long as we have a President disposed to veto their bills, they would surrender their power by admitting South. Excluded the Radicals are too strong for the veto; with the South admitted the veto would be too strong for them. If they could depose President Johnson their chief objection to the immediate restoration of the South would be the Southern vote in the presidential election.

It is also supposed that the Congress just elected will pass, in the winter of 1869, a joint resolution declaring that the Southern electoral votes shall not be counted. We quote:

"If they were insured against a veto, they could pass that or any other resolution they chose, even if the South were represented; but the inconsistency of admitting the Southern States to Congress, and at the same time excluding them from the presidential election, would be too damaging to be incurred. We may therefore be certain that whether the President be impeached or not, the South will be shut out of Congress till after the presidential election."

"There are two things which Congress may attempt against the President, but in each there is danger of a recoil against their party. One is to pass laws curtailing his patronage."

The Philadelphia North American thus talks against the President:

"Though the whole remainder of his administration, President Johnson will be confronted by just such a Congress as the present one. Doubtless, he will go without entirely changing his policy, in his estimation, lead the Republicans to hope for his return to their lines. We are of opinion that it ought to make no difference to any Republican member of Congress what profession the President may now see proper to make."

"The power lodged in the hands of Congress by the constitution should be used freely to take from the President the power he has abused, and to establish some permanent system of appointments to office, based on competitive examinations by appointing officers selected by some one else than Andrew Johnson. The general sentiment of the country now is to the effect that the autocratic power of the national Executive is fraught with peril to our liberties and free institutions, and ought to be reduced."

The World also discusses the possibility of impeachment as in the possible programme, and declares—

"An impeachment of the President would shake public credit, send up the price of gold like a rocket, and cause a suspension of business similar to that which took place in the winter of 1860 and '61, when the laboring classes in our cities were suddenly thrown out of employment. If Congress chooses to tergiversate into confusion, and spread a ruinous Commercial panic over the country, their party will go down in the next Presidential election. If their malignity so far gets the better of their judgement as to impel them to impeach Mr. Johnson, the certain result will be a financial panic, followed by a tremendous reaction against its authors, and possibly by a civil war. But if they dare not force the recoil of an impeachment, what have they gained by their success in the elections? Nothing substantial, except their ability to pass a joint resolution forbidding the President of the Senate to count and declare the Southern electoral votes. But they cannot prevent the Southern States from choosing presidential electors; and if the candidate for whom those electors vote is really chosen, the Radicals will again have to face the possibility of a civil war. If Gen. Grant should run against Chief Justice Chase, and beat him by receiving the Southern votes, it would be an extra hazardous business to say that those votes should not be counted."

The Doctrine of State Suicide.

REVEREND JOHNSON made the following points against the Radical doctrine of State suicide in a recent speech in Maryland:

1. Congress recognizes the seceding States as States by the resolutions of July 22, 1861.
2. By the act assigning them their quota of representatives.
3. By the assent given, as required by the Constitution, to the division of Virginia; and in this connection is the fact that opinions affirming the validity and constitutionality of this act were given by all of Mr. Lincoln's Cabinet, including Chief Justice Chase.
4. By the act appropriating taxation amongst the States, and another extending the time of payment in the South.
5. By the provision for the salaries of judges, marshals, district attorneys, and other officers.
6. By the readjustment at the last session of the judicial circuits.

Again, the judicial department is committed to their recognition as States—

1. By including them in their distribution of the judicial circuit as made during the insurrection.
2. By hearing and deciding cases on appeal to a writ of error from the courts of such States.

The President is committed to it by his approval of the various acts of Congress referred to.

Great Distribution

BY THE

American Jewellers' Association

Depots: 37 & 39 Nassau, 54, 56 &

58 Liberty St.,

NEW YORK CITY.

Of Rosewood Pianos and Melodeons, Fine Oil Paintings, Engravings, Silver Ware and Watches, and Elegant Jewellery, consisting of Diamond Pins, Diamond Rings, Gold Bracelets, Coral, Florentine, Mosaic, Jet, Lava, and Cameo Lad's Sets, Gold Pens, with Gold and Silver Extension Holders, Sleeve Buttons, Sets of Studs, Vest and Neck Chains, Plain and Chased Gold Chains, &c., &c., valued at which they need not pay until it is known what is drawn and its value.

THE AMERICAN JEWELLERS' ASSOCIATION calls your attention to the fact of its being the largest and most popular Jewellery Association in the United States. The business is and always has been conducted in the most candid and honorable manner. Our rapidly increasing trade is a sure guarantee of the appreciation of our patrons for this method of obtaining rich, elegant and costly goods. The sudden stagnation of trade in Europe, owing to the late German War and recent disastrous financial crisis in England, has caused the failure of a large number of Jewellery Houses in London and Paris, obliging them to sell their goods at a great sacrifice. In some instances less than one third the cost of manufacturing. We have lately purchased very largely of these Bankrupt Goods at such extremely low prices, that we can afford to send away finer goods, and give better chances to draw the most valuable prizes than any other establishment doing a similar business. OUR AIM IS TO PLEASE, and we respectfully solicit your patronage, as we are confident of giving the utmost satisfaction. During the past year we have forwarded a number of the most valuable prizes to all parts of the country. Those who patronize us will receive the full value of their money, as no article on our list is worth less than One Dollar, retail, and there are no blanks. Parties dealing with us may depend upon having prompt returns, and the article drawn will be immediately sent to any address by return mail or express.

The following parties have recently drawn valuable prizes from the American Jewellers' Association, and have kindly allowed the use of their names:

Charles J. Hunter, Esq., Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., Piano, value $200; Miss Anna G. Yates, 52 St. Mark's Place, N. Y., Sewing Machine, value $75; Brig. Gen. L. L. Hanson, U. S. V., New York, Tenn., Silver Tea Set, value $50; Wm. H. Hunter, Esq., 65 Front St., New York, Sewing Machine, value $30; Lieut. Col. Walter Chittenden, Quartermaster, Louisville, Kentucky, Gold Watch, value $50; Wm. S. Haines, 247 King St., Charleston, S. C., Silver Watch, value $50; Alexander Johnson, Esq., Editor Albany Pioneer, Albany, Minn., Ladies' Embroidered Watch, value $150; Samuel Lee, Esq., President Colorado and Red Bank Mining Company, San Francisco, Cal., Melodeon, value $200; Aaron S. Long, Esq., Principal Elkhart Collegiate Institute, Elkhart, N. J., Diamond Pin, value $200; R. M. Longstreet, Montgomery, Ala., Music Box, value $75; Rev. Isaac Van Duzer, Albany, N. Y., Gold Lined Mirror, value $200; Miss Clara Langerue, Dayton, Ohio, Piano-forte, value $400, and Diamond Pin, value $15.

Many names could be placed on the list, but we publish no names without permission. Our patrons are desired to send United States Currency when it is convenient.

Manhood: How Lost, how Regained!

Just published, a new edition of the celebrated Essay on the natural cure (without medicine) of Gonorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotence, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, &c.; also Consumption, Rheumatism, and First Induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be entirely eradicated, and the system restored to its normal condition, by the application of the "Kalmecut" cure, a mode of cure simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself off cheaply, privately, and radically. This Lecture, should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers:

To the Afflicted.

DR. GEORGE W. LEACH proposes a new system of cure in place of the old internal doses which enfeeble the stomach, poison the blood and endanger the life. He can be consulted at any time in Jacksonville, personally or by letter, giving name of the person, whether over or under 35 years of age and the disease. He cures cancers, wens, ulcers, scrofula, piles, diseases of the lungs, spine, kidneys, and some others; charging but a very small amount in advance, afterwards if no cure no pay. He has a number of testimonials of cure—has recently treated 11 cases of cancer, seven of which are entirely well and the others getting well.
G. W. LEACH, Faith Doctor.

Mr. Joseph Francis, Sr.
DEAR SIR:

At the last regular meeting of the Dialectic Society, pursuant to the unanimous request of the society, that the manuscript of the Thesis which you delivered at the preceding meeting, be furnished for publication, the subscribing committee have the honor to solicit that favor. Aside from making manifest the applause so richly merited, its beneficial effect upon our organization we consider invaluable.

With the hope of your ready acquiescence, we are, respectfully,
Your obt. serv'ts,
JOHN D. ROWLAND, A. WOODS, J. M. CROOK, Com.

Jacksonville, Ala. Nov. 27, '66,
Messrs. Rowland, Woods, & Crook: Gentlemen:

Though the Thesis requested, was not written with any idea of its being solicited for publication, still it affords me pleasure to do anything which you may think would conduce to the advancement of the society.

With many thanks for the honor conferred, I am Respectfully,
Your obt. serv't,
J. H. FRANCIS, Sr.

The Duties of the Hour.

"Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." When the public mind is excited, it is then time for reflecting minds to pause and contemplate the destruction which awaits, unless reason resumes her wonted throne. It is incumbent upon us all to make every thing subservient to duty. The people of the South during the revolution evidenced a spirit of fortitude and courage which has been the admiration of the world. The names of Lee, Johnson, Jackson, and a host of other southern heroes, some living, and others sleeping their last sleep upon the battle fields which won them their honors, will go "ringing down the corridors of time," and their many virtues never cease to be admired as long as patriotism and chivalry find a place in the heart of man. Shall we tear the wreaths from the brows of our heroes? Shall we tarnish the glory which clusters around their names? Shall we steal from their honors? Shall we desecrate the memory of those noble southern men and boys who are now lying unconscious of earthly things, just beneath the sod where their life blood ebbed and flowed, by acting in a manner unworthy the boasted chivalry of a Southron? Though defeated, is it our duty as men, as men of honor & principle, to tamely submit to every indignity offered us—to cress the hand that would destroy us. The justice of the cause for which we struggled cannot be changed by having met with defeat. Liberty has often lain bleeding and fettered, but not conquered. It can never be conquered. As long as man exists its fires will never cease to burn in his bosom, and it only smoulders to shed more brilliancy when it bursts through the darkness which envelops it. Our liberties have been taken from us—we have been robbed of our property—we are held as the subjects of a conquered province, and I cannot think there is one here, so lost to all sense of honor—so regardless of those principles for which we struggled through the dark and bloody days of the revolution who would still wish to bow the suppliant knee of con-dilation. All that we have conceded since the close of the war has been of no avail, and has only made the party in power still ask for more. Is it not our duty to say plainly that we will concede no further—give us equal rights and equal representation; and if this is not granted, our honor forbids us asking or granting more. Let us show to those who are our persecutors, that though our banners trail in the dust, and our once proud, victorious armies are scattered—though we are impoverished, we still have the richest legacies bequeathed us by a noble ancestry, pride and honor. Is it not a sacred duty then, of the young men of the South, to guard this trust with vigilant vigilance—to watch it with an eye that never sleeps, and a heart that never faints, and an energy that never wavers. I know that our future is dark and gloomy—that the energies of many of our noblest men flaged when their fondest hopes were crushed by the unfortunate termination of the war. But this ought not to be the case—we have now as great motives to action as existed before the war. The history of nations should teach us the lesson, that though fanaticism and ignorance may gain power for a time, in the end mind will overcome both. Let us then "grasp the fleeting moments as they pass"—let us seek and embrace every opportunity which will conduce to our intellectual advancement. Though now the iron hand of tyranny grasps us with irresistible force, by acquiring intellectual superiority, we can then look thro' the dim vista of the future with the hope of becoming freemen. Intellect commands respect throughout the world. The most renowned statesmen of America were reared on southern soil—the merry school boy shout of the greatest orators of modern times were first echoed among the hills and vales of our own dear South—the first command of the greatest of modern generals was a troop of little woolly heads. In the cabinet—on the forum or in the field, southern mind and valor have in the past led the van. It remains for us to sustain the reputation of those who have gone before. The names of Clay, Calhoun, Breckinridge and Davis, as well as Lee, Jackson and others, call upon us to emulate their illustrious lives. They have won for themselves and their country immortal honors, and it devolves upon us to determine what shall be the future destiny of the South. We have the capacity—we have the opportunity—shall we remain inactive. Should the threatened war, which is now attracting the attention of the country, come upon us, what then will be our duty? I feel my incapacity to answer a question of such vital importance to us all. "I have within my heart's hot cells shut up the bitter burning wrongs" we suffered in our struggle for independence—I cannot forget the wrongs we are suffering to-day—my heart bleeds for the patriot who is now languishing in a northern prison. I cannot so soon forget those noble men who poured out their life's blood in defending right. I feel that I am incompetent to answer this question with such thoughts as these forcing themselves upon me. I might, were I to follow my inclinations, hope for an opportunity to avenge our wrongs—I might hope that the parties North would become involved in war—that devastation and desolation might spread their fiery wings, and take in their flight the entire North. I believe that then the star of hope of the future liberty of the South could be seen gleaming through the midnight darkness which now enshrouds us. The late elections have given our oppressors a majority in Congress, which will enable them to impeach the President—he says he will resist impeachment. If he calls upon us for aid, shall we rally around his standard—shall we assist him in maintaining the Constitution—shall we stand quietly by and see the last hope of a Republican form of government dashed to the ground by men who are a disgrace to humanity? Or shall we rather grasp the sword which is yet dripping with blood, and sustain one who is attempting to perpetuate our liberties, and whose heart throbs for the good of his country. These are questions I leave with you to answer—they are questions which you may soon be called upon to decide, and if we must decide them, let us "go where honor calls and glory waits," whether it is to remain at our homes or march to the battlefield. I hate war—the shrieks of the wounded and dying—the piercing file and rolling drum—the bellying cannon and rattling musketry—the midnight charge—the weary march possess no charms for me, but when my country requires my services, honor demands that the sacrifice be made. If, assisting the President, we are unsuccessful, the proud bird of liberty, disappointed, will rise and soar away to other lands sending back a shriek which will pierce the souls of millions of those who were once freemen. If we should be successful what a glorious future awaits us; the lovers of liberty throughout the world will send up a shout which will echo from the very vaults of heaven. Though many may fall in the contest—"it is sweet to die for one's country."

"Oh, if there be on this earthly sphere, A heaven, an offering heaven holds dear, 'Tis the last libation liberty draws From the heart that bleeds and breaks in her cause."

THE CHURCH VS. TOBACCO.—At the meeting of the Ohio Synod of the "United Presbyterian Church," lately held at Wooster, a report was received from the Judicial Committee asking the following question:

1. Is it consistent with Christian character for a United Presbyterian to put up the sign, "Tobacco and Cigars," before his shop door, thus inviting the public to buy and use the filthy weed?

2. Should church members silently acquiesce in such trafficking in those things which are not necessary for the sustentation of our nature?

The venerable Synod disapproved of the first of practices; and in regard to the second, while not condemning the use of tobacco for medicinal purposes or advising judicial action they thought the influence of members should be exerted against its sale.

The Richmond Whig notices the profits of economy and industry everywhere practiced among the Southern people, and predicts the growth of a superior race under the new era of emancipation.

LIFE IN A PALACE.—They bore a coffin to the Tuileries the other day. Are you not disposed to envy the life of a man whose home was that palace? He was a cousin of the French Emperor and was the first Chamberlain and superintendent of the Imperial Theatres. He had seventeen grand crosses of the Legion of Honor, and had received the highest, selectest orders in Europe; but he never envied any man. He was a good reader, and a spoiled child of fortune. I have seen many a spoiled child of fortune in his dressing gown. I have seen one I would have changed places with. Certainly, Count Bacciocchi seemed dandified by fortune-tender as he ever dandified any one. He was born in the gilded cradle, and trod the carpet of roses; but he was the victim of disease, which tortured him with barbarous cruelty. It was one of those nervous diseases beyond the reach of medical science. He could not remain still either in a chair or in a bed without suffering the acutest pain. The nerves of motion were affected. He conducted business on foot; he dictated letters and lists of invitations as he paced his office. He listened to the performance of operas in his latticed box, which had no seat in it, and was covered with a thick carpet, that he might walk during the performance. He saw ballets danced from the steps of the stage. Often he would take the dustiest boots issued from the press, have candles lighted in broad daylight, and read the standard work until he caught its heaviness, and was supposed to sleep. Sometimes sleep would not come, even when so exhausted; then he would walk until it came; he would walk until he had exhausted the body that the nerves were insensible to pain, and sleep would come necessary to life. On one occasion he walked without intermission for thirty-six hours, trying to subdue his fatigue. The sides of his feet were red as if they had been lashed and blood had been forced through all their pores. The Emperor gave him a pair of slippers, and he had it covered with a thick Japanese carpet, that the poor patient might enjoy his painful round with the least pain. He died of sheer exhaustion from want of sleep. Shortly before he died he murmured, "Nolui! Nolui!" repeatedly. "What is that? Do you want any thing?" asked one of the persons present. "Do not question me," replied the fast dying man. No one was a little shop-girl of Leghorn, his first love; she is now an old, wrinkled shop-keeper of that city; and has a large family. The dying man, though he has lived in palaces amid the rank and beauty of Europe, thought of none of the pageantry and pomp of his career. They were vanity of vanities. All his last thoughts he owed to the humble maiden whose lip had first breathed love into his ear. This was the oasis in his desert—the rest all said.

Paris, Nov. 10, 1866.

The news from India gets worse and worse. From the latest reports I would deem that something like 2,000,000 people have died of famine, on the shores of the Bay of Bengal.

The Boston Commonwealth speaks of "Lieut. Gen. A. P. Stewart, late of the Confederate army." We don't get much of that sort of thing from Boston. But there is no nonsense about the Commonwealth. It is an excellent paper. It says of the Southern people: "No existing government, not even that of Russia, would dare in the light of the Christian civilization of the present day to claim the power and privilege of taking the lives of the conquered." It is the language of barbarism, of the dark days of the world's history. The Southern people are a brave and high spirited people. They are American. They stake their lives and go for the State rights heresy. They were finally defeated and laid down their arms, surrendering to those two magnificent soldiers, Grant and Sherman. Only towards like Butler now claim the power and privilege of taking their lives."

DISTRIBUTIONS.

We would call attention to the opinion of one of the leading papers of Canada on this subject:

Most of our readers have no doubt read some of the numerous advertisements of Gift Enterprises, Gift Concerts, &c., which appear from time to time in the public prints. Being most tempting bargains to those who do not patronize them. In most cases these are genuine humbugs. But there are a few reliable firms who do business in this manner, and they do it as a means of increasing their wholesale business, and not to make money. From such firms, it is true, handsome and valuable articles are procured for a very small sum, and what is more important, no one is ever cheated. Every one gets good value for his dollar, because, as we have said, it is intended to act as an advertisement to increase their ordinary business.

We have seen numbers of prizes sent out in this way by SUGAR, WATSON & COMPANY, of Nassau Street, N. Y., and there is no doubt that some of the articles are worth eight or ten times the money paid for them, while we have not seen or heard of a single article which was not fully worth the dollar which it cost. But this is only one of the exceptions of this rule, for a general thing the parties engaged in this business are nothing but clever swindlers.

Manhood: How Lost, how Regained!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of SEMINOTIC, or Sexual Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also CONSUMPTION, EMBESERY, and FEET, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance. Price in a sealed envelope, only 6 cts. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers,

To the Afflicted

Dr. GEORGE W. LEACH proposes a new system of cure in place of the vast internal doses which enfeeble the stomach, poison the blood and endanger the life. He can be consulted at any time in Jacksonville, personally or by letter, giving name of the person, whether over or under 35 years of age, and the disease. He cures cancers, wens, ulcers, scrofula, piles, diseases of the lungs, spine, kidneys, and some others; charging but a very small amount in advance, afterwards if no cure no pay. He has a number of testimonials of cure—has recently treated 11 cases of cancer, seven of which are entirely well and the others settling well.

Work for the Congress

"Nack" of the Cincinnati Commercial gives the following programme:

When Congress adjourned in July there were a number of important bills which had passed one House and were pending in the other. These, by a resolution adopted on the last day of the session, will take their places in the calendar of the approaching session in the stage at which they were at the time of adjournment. The most important of them are the Bankrupt Bill which passed the House and is ready for action in the Senate; the Tariff Bill which passed the House and was referred to the Senate Committee on Finance; the Negro Suffrage Bill for the District of Columbia, which was hurried in the Senate Committee on the District. Then here half a dozen judiciary bills, and a large number of private claims involving millions of dollars; also one or two Pacific Railroad bills. There will be a strong effort to push the Bankrupt Bill to its final passage during the first week of the session. The Eastern influence in its favor is very great, and can hardly be overcome by the Western opposition evinced so far.

The Nashville Dispatch says a vicious dog belonging to Mrs. Judge Catron, of that city, sometime ago bit a man named Adolphus S. Dodd, painfully lacerating his leg. He brought suit, laying his damages at $250.—The case was tried last Monday, and the plaintiff awarded $2,500.

Efforts are in progress for the discovery and possession by the lawful heirs of the will of Joseph Wilson, formerly of Yorkshira, England, deceased—a document which is said to entail the title of the city of Leeds, in England, a place of 200,000 inhabitants, valued at $185,000,000, in which a large number of persons in America are interested.—The search is prosecuted principally through the agency of G. R. Gladding Esq., of Providence, one of the heirs who believes that the will is in the hands of the Ingrahams of the West, who are largely interested.

A FAREWELL to JOHNSON'S ISLAND.—Mr. Editor: I send you for publication a few lines of poetry, penciled by an unknown hand upon a wall of one of the prison buildings at Johnson's Island. It will doubtless prove interesting to those who have been inmates of that prison; nor will it, it is hoped, fail to strike the eyes and move the hearts of those who have friends that rest beneath the soil of that lake-girdled Isle:—

Horse sounding billows of the white-capped lake,
That you not the barriers of our hated prison break;
Farewell, Farewell, thou giant inland sea;
Thou, too, subvert the modes of tyranny—
Girdling this Isle, washing its lonely shores
With moaning echoes of thy melancholy roar
Farewell, thou lake! Farewell, thou inhospitable land!
Thou hast the curses of this patriot band!
All save the spot the holy sacred bed,
Where rest in peace our Southern warriors dead!

The Price of Cotton.

The price of Cotton, at present and in the future, is a matter of deep interest to all of our people. We copy the following remarks upon the subject from the money article in the last Memphis Avalanche:

The accounts from New York are not at all favorable, with no sales of cotton except in small lots to fill order, with only light shipments. The depressed state of the market cannot last much longer. A reaction will come, sooner or later, which will be in favor of the great staple of our country. The Liverpool market, at last reports, was steady with middling uplands at 14 1-8d. The stock on hand in Liverpool and on shipboard was very small, only sufficient to supply them until the first of January. The New York market governs the Liverpool market, when formerly the Liverpool market held the sway. The unsettled condition of the money market has influenced the cotton market and all other leading commodities. The factors and spinners are working on short time, and confine their purchases to weekly consumption. This is caused on account of the large stock of manufactured cotton goods on hand. We feel assured the crop of 1867 will not exceed 1,200,000 bales. The new staple for the past month has been pushed into market with vigor. The entire country has been exhausted for the purpose of obtaining money to restock plantations laid waste by the ravages of war while the increased rates of labor demanding cash, have absorbed every dollar in the planting sections of the country. To obtain the required funds nearly every pound of cotton raised this year has been drawn against, and we fear many planters will be compelled to renew their obligations, and start in on their next growing crop as they did this year. The North, in anticipation of immense sales to the depleted marts and agricultural districts of the South, have imported largely, to pay for which cotton has been shipped to Europe, for goods that are yet on hand in Northern cities—an immense amount of them. The procedure has glutted the Liverpool market and depleted that of New York. Now the Eastern manufacturer comes into the market for supplies that he has avoided purchasing, merely furnishing himself with a weekly supply, hoping by this means to make a light demand. The effort to depress cotton in America has been a shrewd trick of the "bulls" and "bears" of New York as also of the moneyed men in the Liverpool market, in which they have succeeded, we feel assured beyond their most sanguine expectations. Cotton may react a cent or two, but its ultimate will be an advance on present prices, with a permanence of character that will confirm its influence.

A NEW PARTY IN NEW ENGLAND.—Says the New York Times:

"We venture to predict that a party will be developed in New England, opposed to the readmission of the Southern States into Union at all. There is already a very strong conviction within these six compact and ambitious little commonwealths, that the Union can be better governed, and will be really more homogeneous and better adapted to their purposes, without the South within it."

Treason and Confiscation.

There are very confused ideas abroad concerning treason and confiscation. Many suppose, that a proclamation declaring certain citizens in certain States rebels and traitors, makes them so. And an Act of Congress [pronouncing that the property of these citizens shall be confiscated, accomplishes the confiscation. These are great errors.

Treason to be efficacious against any citizen, must be brought home to him by a trial and conviction must be by a jury, sitting in the State and district where the treason was committed. The Constitution of the United States says, in 3d Article, 3d Section: "Treason against the United States shall consist only of levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies—giving them aid and comfort."

In the 3d Article, 2d Section—"The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the State where the said crimes shall be committed."

The States were not satisfied with the clause in the Constitution, and proposed the following amendment, Article 6, which was adopted: "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defence."

The 5th amended Article prescribes: "That no person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury."

The course of proceedings then in treason, appear to be this: 1. The indictment for treason must be laid before a grand jury. 2. If a true bill is found by the grand jury he must be speedily and publicly tried by an impartial petit jury, in the State and district where the treason is alleged to have been committed. 3. He shall be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation. 4. He shall be confronted with the witnesses against him. 5. Have compulsory process to obtain witnesses in his favor. 6. Have the assistance of counsel. 7. And at the trial, shall have the right of challenging those who are to compose the jury—twenty-one peremptorily, and as many more as he can show cause, from any expressions or acts, are not impartial. And finally, when the trial comes off, the whole petit jury, (twelve in number)—must agree as to the criminality of the accused, or he must be acquitted. If one man on the petit jury, thinks the accused not guilty, he is entitled to a verdict to that effect.

These are the forms by which all person accused of treason, by the United States, are to be tried. If fairly carried out, it requires no ghost to help us to predict that no citizen of the Southern States, on account of the late war, will ever be convicted of treason against the United States.

And threats of confiscation are as terrible as threats of treason. As a punishment for treason, the Constitution expressly prohibits it. It says, Article 3, Section 3: "No attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted." It is plain, from this clause of the Constitution, that even if a man should be convicted of treason his property could be taken by the Government only during his life time. After his death (which is generally shortly after his conviction), it goes to his heirs-at-law. But to be forfeited even to this extent, there must first be a trial by jury, and a conviction for treason. Can the property of any citizen of the United States, whether a supposed rebel or not, be taken from him, by the Government of the United States, excepting in the qualified manner prescribed in Article 3d of the Constitution, on a conviction of treason? The Act of Congress, declaring that the property of all rebels in the Southern States shall be confiscated, does not alter the matter. They must be tried and convicted of being rebels, before the law can apply; and when it applies, it is limited by the 3d Article of the Constitution. From these views of the Constitution, which we believe to be incontrovertible, our readers can judge of the senseless cry in the Northern States, for all the lands of the people in the Southern States, to be taken from them by confiscation. They cannot take one single acre; and we do not believe, that to take a single acre, will be attempted. The Government of the United States may hold our property by military occupancy. But that is not title. It is force. As the reign of peace is now established we must presume, that the wild demon and injustice of war will cease, and reason and the Constitution again prevail.

East Alabama Male College, AT AUBURN.

The course of instruction embraces six Departments, all of which are filled by able Professors. The Spring session will open on the 3d Wednesday in January. The Fall session, 1st Wednesday in September.

The Committee of the Conference just closed at this place, declared "it was the fixed determination of the Trustees to make the Institution equal to any on this continent or in Europe, and we know enough of the men who manage it to assure our readers, they mean what they say. We hail the announcement of this purpose with sincere pleasure. It is no time now for southern intellect to lag behind in the race of improvement. Southern Scholars must stand in the front rank in the learned world. The Rev. E. J. Hamill, Agent appointed by the Conference, fully appreciates the importance of securing this great result. He is well known to most of us, not only as an able and zealous minister, but as a most energetic and efficient Agent.

See notice of Tax Collector for special days, Thursday Friday and Saturday after Christmas, for collection of tax at this place.

Christmas Eve Supper!

We have been requested to announce that the Ladies of the Presbyterian Church will give a supper on the night of the 24th inst., in Jacksonville, the proceeds of which will be appropriated towards the completion of the church edifice.

Further notice will be given in our next issue.

The Montgomery Conference

referred to as in session in this place, in our last paper, closed its labors on Tuesday evening about sunset, after a week's session, in which a great deal of important business was transacted. Bishop Wightman presided with dignity and impartiality, displaying administrative talent of high order, greatly to the satisfaction of the entire body. Rev. J. B. McFerrin, Missionary Secretary was in attendance, preached several times, and took up on Saturday night a missionary collection amounting to near $600. The Presiding Elder, Rev. L. M. Wilson, and Preacher in Charge, Rev. W. R. Kirk, discharged their arduous and responsible duties, in the reception and assignment of Ministers, with industry and fidelity worthy of all praise, and we are pleased to say, to the hearty and entire satisfaction of all.

The citizens of our Town and vicinity, of all denominations of Christians, did themselves great credit by their generous hospitality and kindness, and the liberality of friends in the country in the care of horses will not soon be forgotten—in short, citizens, ministers and all expressed themselves highly gratified with the christian association, and many warm friendships were contracted which will be remembered with pleasure for years.

At the close of the session, votes of thanks were unanimously passed for the tender to the Conference of the Presbyterian and Baptist churches—to the citizens for their hospitality, and to the proprietors of the Stage and Railroad lines for their liberality in the reduction of fare.

The next Conference is to be held at Opelika.

The vote on lay representation stood 62 for and 8 against it—for change of name, 52 for and 10 against it.

The appointments of the Preachers will be found in another column.

The Telegraphic News

in to-day's paper, though we have not room for large heads, will be found of unusual importance and interest. The Mexican difficulties have suddenly assumed an entire new phase. Maximilian has determined not to abdicate and leave Mexico, which in the present state of affairs may possibly lead to war between the United States and France & England. The news from Washington is also of interest; and there is little doubt now, but that the Fenian movement will be carried far enough to result in the hanging and imprisonment of a few of that interesting people.

From the U. S. and European News Association.

SUNDAY'S DISPATCHES.

GLASGOW, Dec. 8.—A leading paper asserts that D. Israeli having intimated that his resignation was contingent upon the present Cabinet accepting a liberal reform Bill.

Lord Derby has conceded to DIsraeli's views, and a bill in accordance therewith will be placed before parliament.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 8.—Two cavalry regiments have been sent to Ireland to suppress insurrectionary movements in progress there.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—It is asserted that dispatches have been received from Maximilian, stating that he will land at Gibraltar about the 20th inst., and several physicians in attendance on Carlotta will join him on his arrival.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The steamer Manhattan from Havana brings advices from the City of Mexico, of the 22d, and Vera Cruz of the 20th.

Maximilian is still at Orizaba. It is stated that he agrees to abdicate appointing the Marquis McLanahan a viceroy, and submitting it to a vote of the people to confirm this step.

The Imperialists are rapidly evacuating all Northern outposts, and General Donay is expected daily at the City of Mexico, with the Garrison of San Luis Potosi, Mazatlan and other places.

The Liberals were concentrating some 35,000 men to attack San Luis Potosi. It is stated that the Imperialists will soon evacuate Durango.

Generals Bazaine and Castejan were at Vera Cruz anxiously awaiting the arrival of Minister Campbell and General Sherman.

Upon the arrival of the Susquehanna at Vera Cruz, she is to receive the customary salutes; and an escort is to be provided for Mr. Campbell and General Sherman, to the City of Mexico.

The people of Vera Cruz manifest great joy at the expected arrival of the Americans.

The troops were confined to the Barracks and were under arms last night.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—A Dublin letter states that Fenian rumors produced a bad effect on trade. Several arrests were made in Draghedo and line troops in Dublin under arms, and detachments of cavalry posted in the suburbs—Twelve thousand five hundred breach-loaders received for distribution among the Constabulary force.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Southern Senators and Representatives held caucuses last night at Willard's Hotel, for the purpose of consultation. Among those present were Gov. Sharkey, of Miss., Gov. Parsons and Mr. Foster, of Ala. and Senators Burnett and Roberts and Representative Apperson of Texas.

It was suggested that a call be made for all Southern members to meet in this city on the 20th of January, but considering the few now present the call was considered inexpedient. It was decided however, if events should render such meeting necessary, a call would be made through the agency of the United States and European News Association. It is now evident that the confiscation fever is abating. Under the act of Congress now proposed to be repealed by the Radicals, President Johnson has already restored nineteen-twentieths of their property, to Southern owners.

NORFOLK, Dec. 9.—Steamship Kelson exploded yesterday, with terrible loss of life.

NORWICH, Conn. Dec. 9.—Lieut. Lawler, formerly of the 9th Connecticut Regiment, who was lately imprisoned as a Fenian in Ireland, arrived here, having been sent home by the British Government.

He reports that there are 50,000 well armed and well drilled Fenians in Ireland, who are about to strike for freedom by the first of January. Lieut. Lawler will soon return to assist in the revolution.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Gov. Parsons states that Gov. Patton, of Alabama, did not recommend the passage of the Constitutional Amendment. He simply in view of new issues and changed circumstances, called on the Legislature to give it prompt attention.

ROME, Sunday, Dec. 9.—The French troops are continually evacuating the Papal dominions and have nearly all left Rome, taking steam transportation at Civita.

LOXLEY, Dec. 9.—Advices from Constantinople state that the means of the Ottoman insurgents are expended and that they are no longer able to resist the oppressive measures of the Turkish Government.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The steamship City of Paris, from Liverpool, arrived to-day. The London Globe hints at a serious difficulty between the British Government and the Washington Cabinet, in respect to the duty of the latter in maintaining faithful neutrality, owing to the Fenian troubles.

Several regiments of British troops have been sent to Ireland.

CORK, Nov. 26.—Considerable alarm prevails here and throughout Ireland. All police stations are barricaded and the military are dispersing throughout the country.

This restoration cannot now be disturbed. The only effect of repulse would fall upon the few prominent men now absent from the country, and who possess but little to confiscate.

NOON DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Dates from Lima and Callao to November 19th and 21st, report Peru tranquil. That Government has definitely declined the arbitration of England and France in her Spanish embargo.

The Allied Squadron was at Valparaiso, November 8th.

The Peruvian Revolutionists expelled to Central America are quiet.

The Washington Government has received dispatches from Santa Anna, protesting against the proposed Juárez policy and claiming that Orizaba, he or any other Mexican should be free to resist in the restoration of Mexican authority.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—In the Senate a number of petitions were presented to appropriate committees.

Morgan presented a petition of the Comptroller of the State of New York, in favor of the General Government assuming the war debt contracted by the several States, or giving up to the several States, to be applied to that purpose certain sources of Internal Revenue. Referred.

Sumner presented a petition from C. G. Jewett, praying that Hannibal Hamlin be declared the President of the United States. Referred to the committee on Judiciary.

Wade from the committee on Territories, reported favorably on the Bill for the admission of Nebraska.

Edmunds from the Judiciary committee reported a bill regulating appointments to office with amendments. He said the committee had given the bill close attention, and he thought that with the amendment is such as suited our Republican form of Government, and was not designed to operate against any particular one.

Harris introduced a bill relative to prisoners suffering imprisonment for offenses against the State. Referred.

Wade introduced a bill to admit Colorado. Referred to the committee on Territories.

A bill to regulate the elective franchise in the District of Columbia was then taken up. This bill gives free suffrage to all negroes who have resided six months in this city.

Mr. Ward, of New York introduced a bill guaranteeing to certain States that have been in rebellion Republican form of Government. Referred to Committee on Reconstruction.

Rogers introduced a bill to repeal the neutrality. Referred to committee on Judiciary.

Bigham introduced a bill declaring void a certain proclamation of the President, issued during the rebellion. Referred to Committee on Judiciary.

Faragher introduced a bill disfranchizing all persons in the district of Columbia, who bore arms in the Confederate Government during the rebellion, or occupied office under the Confederacy. Referred to Committee on Judiciary.

Elliott of Massachusetts introduced a resolution, which was agreed to directing the Secretary of war to communicate to the House any report or evidence in his possession in relation to the riot in Norfolk, in April 1866. Also, any information in relation to the murder in Georgia, of the Rev. Mr. Henton, Missionary to the Freedmen of that State.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The United States Consul at Vera Cruz, reports to the State Department that Maximilian was to leave Orizaba the 28th of November, for the City of Mexico, and that the United States mission was likely to be regarded in a friendly manner by the French in that republic.

She also reports that the Clergy, and a large portion of the vast wealthy influential citizens of Mexico, offered to raise twenty million dollars for Maximilian, if he would remain at the Head of the Government.

Latest accounts from the Empire, says that he will accept the terms offered. Everything quiet at Vera Cruz.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES!

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 10.—The man-of-war Bonnet, from Vera Cruz 1st of December, has arrived. She reports some 16 or 18 transports daily expected off Vera Cruz, to carry the French troops away. The Austrians and Belgians are to remain in Mexico.

She also reports that the Clergy, and a large portion of the vast wealthy influential citizens of Mexico, offered to raise twenty million dollars for Maximilian, if he would remain at the Head of the Government.

Latest accounts from the Empire, says that he will accept the terms offered. Everything quiet at Vera Cruz.

MOBILE, Dec. 10.—Col. John J. Fisher, formerly an officer of Comfort and Juarez, arrived in this city on the 9th inst., having left the City of Mexico on the 19th ult., and Vera Cruz on the 14th inst., says a deputation consisting of the Clergy, distinguished officers and citizens went from the City of Mexico to Orizaba to meet the Emperor; the interview was to induce him to change his mind and adhere to the country.

The Clergy raised $15,000,000 for him and the wealthy citizens and capitalists pledge themselves for a like sum.

Maximilian returned to the Capital. The French said nothing against his movements or change of policy.

Measures were instantly taken to reorganize the army against Juarez and other liberal leaders.

Sanchez has been ordered to command the Department of Puebla, Gen. Miramon to Guanajuato, and Gen. Majia to that of San Luis Potosi, embracing the whole country now occupied by the liberal forces.

He also says that it was believed that the orders withdrawing French forces was entirely revoked and abandoned, and that the Emperor would be sustained by France.

The Susquehanna was lying off Vera Cruz on the 4th inst.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—In the House, Hart introduced a resolution calling for the names of those pardoned by Johnson. Kelly introduced a resolution that debts should be paid by the generation which created them. This resolution does not meet with the approval of the House.

Spalding, of Ohio, introduced a resolution on direct reconstruction, that a committee should be appointed to enquire into the expediency of reporting a joint resolution admitting the Southern States on their adopting the Constitutional Amendment. Adopted.

The Speaker appointed Elliott, Shellabarger and Thomas, of Tennessee, Committee on New Orleans riots.

Pike, Fehsenworth and Cooper on Carolina mutiny.

BROWN & PERKINS.
Pianos for the People!
420 Broome St., N. Y.
We would call the attention of the public and the trade to our elegant New Scale Pianos
in the following styles:
STYLE A, 7 octave Front large round corners, plain case, either upright or carved legs, straight bottom, bead moulding on plinth.....$450
STYLE B, 7 octave, same as style A,
with serpentine moulding on plinth,
carved legs and lyre.....$500
STYLE C, 7 octave, Front corners large round, serpentine bottom, mouldings same as on style B, carved lyre and desk, fancy carved legs.....$550
STYLE D, 7 octave, Four large round corners, finished back, mouldings on rim and plinth, serpentine bottom, carved lyre and desk, elegant carved fruit
legs.....$600

The above styles are all finished in elegant
Rosewood cases and have the full iron frame,
French action, harp pedal, beveled top, ivory
keys and key fronts, and covered in overstrung
bass, nearly all the 7 1/2 octave Pianos now manufactured. They are made of the best materials, and for finish, durability, purity
and sweetness of tone, cannot be surpassed.
We invite the attention of the public, of dealers
and the profession, to a critical examination of the merits of our Pianos.
By avoiding the great expense attendant
upon costly factories and expensive warehouses in the city, we are enabled to offer these Pianos at prices which defy competition, and invite all to call and examine them before purchasing elsewhere. Parties ordering from a distance can rely upon receiving their Pianos promptly, and no confusion can arise as the styles are so distinctly designated by the letters A, B, C, D.
The four styles described above, embrace
all the essential changes in exterior finish of cases, which are by many manufacturers run up to 15 and 20 pattern.

Musical Department.
We would respectfully call the attention of Choir Leaders and Singing School Teachers to

The long experience of our Mr. Perkins in Musical Conventions, Choirs, the Concert Room and Sunday-School, enables him to give advice and information on all points of musical interest as to the selection of proper work of instruction, formation of musical schools—progress in musical studies and items
of general interest to composers, leader teachers and students.
Sheet Music furnished on the usual terms
with promptness and dispatch.
Country orders solicited—and selections
made for pupils, teachers, concerts, &c., &c.,

POETRY.

[From War Poets of the South.]

Enlisted To-day.

I know the sun shines, and the lilacs are blowing,
And summer sends kisses by beautiful May—
Oh! to see all the treasures the spring is bestowing,
And think—my boy Willie enlisted to-day.

It seems but a day since, at twilight, low humming,
Rocked him to sleep with his cheek upon mine,
While Robby, the four year old, watch-dog for the coming
Of father, adown the street's indistinct line

It is many a year since my Harry departed,
To come back no more in the twilight or dawn;
And Robby grew weary of watching & started
Alone on the journey his father had gone,

It is many a year—and this afternoon, sitting
At Robby's old window, I heard the band play,
And suddenly ceased dreaming over my knitting,
To recollect Willie is twenty to-day.

And that standing beside him this soft May morning,
The sun waking gold of his wreathed cigar smoke,
I saw in his sweet eyes and lips a faint warning,
And choked down the tears when he eagerly spoke:

"Dear mother, you know how these Northern men are crowding,
They would trample the rights of the South in the dust;
The boys were all fire, and they wish I were going—"
He stopped, but his eyes said, "Oh, say I must!"

I smiled on the boy, though my heart seemed breaking,
My eyes filled with tears so I turned them away,
And answered him: "Willie, 'tis well you are waking—"
Go, act as your father would bid you to-day."

I sit in the window and see the flags flying,
And dreadingly list to the roll of the drum,
And smother the pain in my heart that is dying,
And bid all the fears in my bosom be dumb.

I shall sit in the window, when summer is lying,
Out over the field, and the honey bees hum
Lulls the rose at the porch from her tremulous sighing,
And watch for the face of my darling to come.

And if he should fall—his young life he has given
For freedom's sweet sake; and for me I will pray
Once more, with my Harry and Robby in Heaven,
To meet the dear boy that enlisted to-day.

BEARS.

As regards Bears, you can teach 'em to do interesting things, but they're unreliable. I had a very large grizzly bear once, who would dance, and lark, and lay down, and bow his head in grief and give a mournful wale, etc., etc. But he often annoyed me. It will be remembered that on the other occasion of the first battle of Bull Run it suddenly occurred to the Federal soldiers that they had business in Washington which ought not to be neglected, and they all started for that beautiful and romantic city, maintaining a rate of speed during the entire distance that would have done credit to the celebrated French steed Gladiateur. Very naturally, our government was deeply grieved at this defeat; and I said to my Bear shortly after as I was giving a exhibition in Ohio, I said "Brewer are you not sorry the national arms has sustained a defeat?" His business was to wail dismal, and now his head down, the band (a barrel organ and a violin) playing slow and melancholy music. What did the grizzly old cuss do, however, but commence dancing and larking in the most joyous manner. I had a very narrow escape from being imprisoned for disloyalty. I will relate another incident in the career of this reformed Bear. I used to present what I called in the bills A Beautiful living Pietur—showing the Bear's fondness for his master; in which I'd lay down on a piece of carpeting, and the Bear would come and lay down beside me, resting his right paw on my breast, the band playing "Home, Sweet Home," very soft and slow. Altho' I say it, it was a tuckin' thing to see. I've seen Tax-Collectors weep over that performance.

Well, one day, I said, "ladies and gentlemen, we will now show you the bear's fondness for his master," and I went and laid down. I thought I observed a peculiar expression into his eyes, as he rolled clumsily to wards me, but I didn't dream of the scene which followed. He laid down and put his paw on my breast "Affection of the bear for his master," I repeat it. "You see the monarch of the western wilds in a subjugated state. Pierce as these animals naturally are, we now see that they have hearts and can love. This bear, the largest in the world, and measuring seventeen feet round the body, loves me as a mother loves her child!" But what was my horror when the grizzly and infamous bear threw his other paw under me, and riz with me to his feet. Then clasping me in a close embrace he waltzed up and down the platform in a frightful manner, I yellin' with fright and anguish. To make matters worse, a low scurrlous young man in the audience hollered out, "Playfulness of the bear! Quick music!" I just seaped with my life. The bear met at a woi'ent death the next day, by bein in the way when a heavily loaded gun was fired off by one of my men.

TERrible, RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—We learn that a collision occurred Thursday near Corinth on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad between a freight and passenger train—both out of time. The engines were badly smashed; the baggage, express and 2nd passenger car were burnt, Mr. Slayton, the conductor had his legs broken four times; and between seven and ten persons are missing, supposed to be either killed or burnt. No further particulars. It is the worst accident that ever occurred on the road, and the wreck will not be cleared off before to-day. P. S. The conductor, Henry W. Slayton, died on the 29th—language master Jones was killed, and five or six other employees of the road. No passengers injured. The heavy rains during this week injured the road in several places, delayed trains, &c. No passenger train left here for the East yesterday.

Beautiful Extract from Col. Manlove's Address.
We make the following extract from the eloquent oration delivered by Col. T. B. Manlove, editor of the Vicksburg Times, before the Press Convention in that city on Monday, the 5th. It is one of the most beautiful tributes to the South we have seen:
"Southern nationality is a dream of the past. A gulf, beyond which we could not pass, yawned between us and the realization of our hopes; and though bright the flowers bloomed upon its bank and wafted its sweet perfume, we could not cross to gather them.

The southern cross no longer gleams out 'mid the wild light of battle, the sword of the vanquished is sheathed, and the land is gloomy with the harmless sepulchres of our martyred dead. But when years upon years have passed away—when the last of the present generation sleep with their fathers, and new forms through the old familiar places—when faction shall have healed, and justice hold the scales—then, as bright as day and as free from blemish and stain, will stand forth in bright relief, upon the scroll of his-toric fame, the record of the South, dearer to the hearts of her children now in the hour of sorrow, than when, on the march to victory, she won the admiration of the world.

Pilgrims from other lands shall tread with reverential step above the spot where moulders the dust of our loved and lost, while those who are to follow us will cherish, as household gods, the names of those who, carving a way through the fiery path of war have written their names where they can never die. The principle for which so many laid down their lives may not be recognized until their names have grown feeble on the tongue of friendship, and been dropped like dead silence, from the ear of the world. But it will struggle back from the hollow bosom that once bled for it, and ascend the heights of government. And when the faithful historian shall descend into the vaults of the dead past in quest of traditions of liberty, he will then discover to whom the world is indebted for their perpetuation."

The Baltimore Sun states that nearly two thousand Germans now leave Europe every week for the United States, in the Bremen and Hamburg mail steamers. A company is established at Copenhagen, to encourage the emigration of Danes, Norwegians and Swedes to the United States. The children of all these emigrants, it is said, are taught the English language as their mother tongues.

There is not a single southern member of either branch of Congress in Washington as yet; and some are inclined to the opinion none will come until they shall have been called on to take their seats.

A Memphis paper says: "Night after night affairs occur, men are shot within a few yards of our office, bullets are fired into windows, and its doors are banged; I am shot nightly from one end of the city to the other."

The most astounding fish story yet told is the statement by Professor Agassiz; that in Brazil they have a species of fish that can climb trees.

In Chancery.

Mandeville & Stewart, At Rules before vs. the Register of the 36th Dist. Northern Chancery Div. of Ala. Dec. 2d, 1866.

THIS day came the complainants by their Solicitors Ellis & Caldwell, and moved the undersigned Register and Master in Chancery for the 36th District, Northern Chancery Division of Ala., for an order of publication against James K. Buttram a non-resident deft., residing in Miss. P. O. unknown; and it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, from an affidavit on file, that the said deft. is a minor over 14 years and a non-resident of the State of Mississippi, post office not known.

It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the Jacksonville Republican, a weekly newspaper printed and published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said defendants to appear before the said Register at his office in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, on Monday the 4th day of February next, by 12 o'clock of said day, and plead, answer or demur to complainants bill of complaint exhibited in said Chancery court, against them and others, or the same will be taken for confessed by them and the said cause set for hearing ex parte as to them.

It is further ordered by the Register, that the said order be published at the court house door of Calhoun County, Alabama, in the Town of Jacksonville, within twenty days after the day of this order.

Granted December 2d, 1866.

To the Afflicted

DR. GEORGE W. LEACH proposes a new system of cure in place of the vast internal doses which enfeeble the stomach, poison the blood and endanger the life.
He can be consulted at any time in Jacksonville, personally or by letter, giving name of the person, whether over or under 35 years of age, and the disease. He cures cancers, wenders, scrofula, piles, diseases of the lungs,
spine, kidneys, and some others; charging but a very small amount in advance, afterwards if no cure no pay. He has a number of testimonials of cure—has recently treated 11 cases of cancer, seven of which are entirely well and the others getting well.

Manhood: How Lost, how Regained!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Cele- brated Essay on the radical

cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHOEA,

or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Sexual

Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also

Consumption, Epilepsy, and Firms, induced

by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6 cts.

The celebrated author, in this admirable

essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure

himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's

"Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address

Christmas Eve Supper!

In our last issue, we announced that the Ladies of the Presbyterian Church would give a Supper on the evening of Monday next, Christmas-Eve—the proceeds of which would go for the benefit of the Church at this place.

We hope the bare announcement will be sufficient to secure a large attendance. The Ladies of our Town, of all denominations, are proverbial for spreading a "bounteous board" on such occasions. Then let all the lovers of "good cheer" go and be abundantly satisfied—
let the Christian man go and show forth
a practical, tangible benevolence—let everybody go, men, women and children, and while enjoying a festival appropriate to the season, be conscious that they are contributing to a fund of charity and good will!

The supper will be given in the "Kahn
Buildings" east side of public square.
Monday night, 24th inst. 7 o'clock.

Tickets can be had at the Stores—
admission one dollar—no half tickets.

The above will perhaps give our readers about as good an idea of the present Radical programme, as a column of comments, arguments or predictions
could do.

Their plans of reconstruction are about like type, when thrown into what printers call pi, and thus far about as successful as the above specimen of reconstruction is in making syllables and words. Too ambitious, selfish and corrupt to adopt the plain, simple and equitable plan proposed by the President,
they have totally failed, after near two years trial, to substitute one of their own; and having proven themselves incompetent to do good or build up, they are now, we are informed, about to prove themselves powerful in completing their work of mischief and destruction, by passing a bill declaring all the Southern States territories, to be governed by officers of their own choosing.

To return to our first figure, the printer's type thrown into pi—should the territorial bill pass, or the government
get into war with France and England
on the Mexican question, the whole government may be thrown into the fiery crucible, and be melted and remoulded
in a new and far different form; as printers sometimes do, to avoid the slow and tedious process of reconstruction and distribution.

In the past we have often said but little, because we felt that argument
was useless, complaint would be unheeded

and opinion worthless; and we expect to do little more in the future, than to give our readers information of such measures, good or bad, as may be actually perfected.

NOON DISPATCHES.

From New York

New York, Dec. 14.—The New Orleans Riot Committee on Investigation, take a wide range, eliciting opinions as to what the loyalists' convention would have done, and the probability of electing Union men, and the possibility of another rebellion following a change of the form of government from a State to a territorial, not confining itself to incidents leading to and of riot. The Committee investigates animus sentiments
and feelings of people.

The Postoffice Department has determined to discontinue offices at points
where anti-rebellion postmasters refuse or neglect settlements.
Good 37.

From Washington.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Mr. Shell-barger, of Ohio, this morning presented a petition of Louisiana Loyalists, praying Congress to supersede the present State government and secure them a republican form. The petition represents the present organization as anti-republican, because a majority of the citizens
are disfranchised, and because loyal citizens are not adequately protected; that a large majority of the present voters are still rebels; that murders and persecutions of loyal men are increasing in frequency and turpitude, and that their lives, liberty and property are endangered.

This petition is signed by Gov. Well-
Chief Justice Hymon, As-is ant Justice Huxell, George W. Kendall and several hundred others.

Mr. Julian offered a bill this morning of great length for the purpose of reorganizing the rebel States and restoring them to the Union—somewhat the same as Stevens' bill for North Carolina. Referred to the Committee on Reconstruction.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES!

Washington, Dec. 14.—The Supreme Court refused to open the test oath case and allow Sherwood, Hamilton and others to discuss it.

The house—passed the suffrage bill
without debate.

Washington, Dec. 14.—The Stevens
bill for North Carolina displaces Southern loyalists.

Ex-Governor Pease of Texas, speaking to day to Senator Roberts of the same State, assured him of his seeming triumph that when Congress acted it would be radical far beyond Mr. Stevens' proposition, or at least you and your friends will think so.

The gunboat Senator, with Sarratt is expected in four weeks.

The President has issued bonds and land patents provided for by law of the completion of twenty miles of the Western Pacific rail at beyond the rocky mountains.

Mr. Julian's territorializing bill was referred to the committee on territories.

Mr. Taylor introduced a bill allowing widows and orphans of missing soldiers bounty pay and pensions.

Mr. Deano offered a bill authorizing the Treasury to pay over to Law and & Co., of New York, six thousand dollars, to run the steamer Republic, en route for New Orleans.

A spirited opposition against establishing such a precedent, but the bill passed 16 to 67.

The franchise bill was moved and passed, 47 to 46.

The message was taken up and discussed.

Adjourned till Monday.

SENATE.—The deficiency bill passed.

The question regarding the compensation of Tennessee Senators was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Ramsay introduced a bill making mechanical and agricultural scrip receivable for pre-emption claims. Referred to Committee on public lands.

From Washington.

Mr. Julian's bill providing for civil government in the districts lately in revolt against the United States, and for the restoration of said districts to their fortified rights as States in the Union
is in substance, as follows:

Whereas, the people of the districts
lately in revolt against the United States
by their act of treason and rebellion against the same, have destroyed all civil government within their borders, and have no power to restore such government without the intervention of Congress

Whereas, as the governments inaugurated in said districts by the President are de facto and provisional only, having no validity whatever, save in the contingent a quiescence of Congress. And Whereas, restoration of civil government in said districts on just principles,
and by authority of the nation, in imperatively demanded by the lawless disposition of those people, and the best interests of the whole country. Therefore,
etc.

Section One provides that North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee and Virginia be, and are hereby created in a temporary and territorial governments, under the names by which they have therefore been known as States.

Section Second vests the executive power in each of said territories in a governor, who shall hold office—

years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President, the governors of said
territories to reside with the boundaries of the same, to command the military thereof, and exercise generally all the powers of governors of territories, including pardoning and veto powers.

Section Third provides for the appointment of a secretary for each of said territories, with the usual duties and authority.

Section Fourth provides that the legislative power be vested in the governor and legislative assembly, to consist of a Senate and House of Representatives, the members of which are to possess the qualifications prescribed for voters.
Previous to the first election, the governor shall cause a census of the inhabitants to be made and fix the time and place for elections, the legislative assembly to meet within ninety days
after the election.

Section Fifth provides that the Senators and Representatives shall be elected by legal male citizens of the United States over 21, and residents of the county, parish, township or ward in which they offer to vote who shall take the oath of allegiance prescribed by Congress, July 2d, 1862; but no person who has held or exercised any office
civil or military, State or territorial,
under the rebel usurpation, or who has voluntarily borne arms against the United States, shall vote, or be eligible to election at such election.

Section sixth authorizes the governor,
by the advice and consent of the territorial legislature, to appoint all officers of the territory not provided for in this bill
and until the election of such legislature
to make such appointments by himself.

Section Seventh provides courts and judicial machinery for the territories.

Section Eighth provides for the appointment of attorneys and marshals.

Section Ninth directs the Governor,
Secretary, Chief Justice and Associate Justices, the Attorney and Marshal of each of these territories shall be nominated, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, be appointed by the President.

Section Tenth authorizes the seats of government to be fixed by the Legislature, and provides for the election of delegates to the House of Representatives of the United States from each territory by the voters qualified to vote for legislators.

Section Eleventh provides that the Constitution and laws of the United States shall have the same force and effect in these territories as elsewhere in the United States.

Section Twelfth authorizes the people
of said territories to form for themselves State governments under the names as before the rebellion, which are to be admitted equal with the other States of the Union.

Section Thirteenth Qualifications for voters for legislators are male qualifications for voters for the State Convention, citizens of a territory entitled in the military and naval service of the United States are authorized to vote at places of service.

Section Fourteenth provides for the mode in, and mode of conducting State Conventions.

Senator Wade on Female Suffrage.

JEFFERSON, Ohio, Nov 14, 1866.
Susan B. Anthony, Secretary American
Equal Rights Association:

MADAM: Yours of the 9th inst., is received and I desire to say, in reply, that I am now and ever had been the advocate of equal and impartial suffrage to all citizens of the United States who have arrived at the age of twenty-one years, who are of sound mind, and who have not disqualified themselves by the commission of any offense, without any distinction on account of race, color, or sex. Every argument that ever has been or ever can be adduced to prove that males should have the right to vote
applies with equal if not greater force to prove that females should possess the same right; and were a citizen of your State, I should labor with whatever of ability I possess to engrave these principles in its Constitution.

Yours very respectfully,
B. F. WADE.

A WONDERFUL LAND WITH STONE TREES SIX HUNDRED FEET LONG.—In the Eastern Stage newspaper we find a report of many of the curiosities and the great riches of the Black Rock country, in the northwestern portion of California. The reports of the singular features of this section are of many years standing, but are so marvellous
that they have seldom obtained credence.

Among the wonderful stories we have heard is one that there is a petrified tree there seven hundred feet in length! The present report in part confirms previous statements, and establishes the fact, that Black Rock is one of the wonders of the Pacific coast, like the Yose-mite, the Big Trees, the Geyers, &c.

Besides the curiosities there appears to be an abundance of silver at Black Rock
but the ore is said to be of an unusual variety and very difficult to work; but it has been worked with very good results at the mills at Washoe. The quantity of ore is so great that it is said
it will justify the erection of a thousand mills. A gentleman who visited the section has exhibited to the editor of the Eastern Stage very many curiosities peculiar to the country, strange petrifications from the ravines, curious water-
worn pebbles from the mountain tops;
knives, arrow heads and daggers manufactured by Indian skill from solid flint,
a superior quality apparently as one black tin, said to contain six hundred dollars in silver to the ton, pebble tin,
with its curious fracture, that admits no change in form, and a thousand strange and new things.

The editor says: "He also tells us
of many strange things that he saw but could not bring with him, and many stranger things he heard of but did not see. Among the latter list of wonders is a great basin that contains a petrified forest, apparently floated there many vast trees of solid stone, ranging from six to fifteen feet in diameter. Doubtless this tale may appear, still we dare to dispute its correctness when we know this strange country has a boiling
spring of fresh water fifteen feet in diameter, that cannot be sounded, from which no drop of water ever runs; that in the same vicinity there is a flowing stream of cold and apparently good water, the drinking of which induces disease; and that any water found by digging is as salt as can be made; that a half barrel deposited in the soil, sealed up by the salt, and after thirty days to vestige
of it can be found."

An old hunter recently found $7,000
in gold and silver buried in a keg, near the Mississippi river.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.—The following is before the Leg.ature of Georgia:
The General Assembly would do injustice to the great heart of Georgia not to give me formal expression of their respect for the character and sorrow for the condition of this illustrious prisoner of state, Jefferson Davis. All the generous pulsations of that heart is in full
an and sympathy with his sufferings and in its throes. Its warm affections cling a tender touch of a voice dear, but now abandoned cause. There they will cluster and center, while men admire a lion is evident as in nature;
while they regard all that is constant o-
purpose; while they are a that is a be in virtue, while they reverence that is sublime in faith and respect unflin-gness of soul.

Therefore the General Assembly of the State of Georgia Resolves, That their sincerest condolence and warmest sympathy are tendered Jefferson Davis
in his confinement, and they will forward with a anxious solicitude to his day
when a magnanimous and patriotic President shall put a term to his confinement, and by the reposition of executive clemency restore him to a people for whom he so faithfully struggled, and on account of whom he endured with Christian fortitude the hardships
of a long and rigorous imprisonment.

The Mexican Business

The late Mexican news brought to this port is calculated to produce a profound impression of astonishment at the North. Both Government and people have a surd that Maximilian's empire was at an end, and the Archduke
himself was well on his way to Miramar
in the United States.

But when it is announced that the Emperor of the State Department will send an embassy lying off Vera Cruz, disappointed in no flouting the Government to which it is accredited, was resounded in its complaints to the French envoy. What will it be when it becomes known that instead of embas-sing, a French division was on the march to attack an interior Juist post
and that Maximilian is at the capital
again backed by the clergy and the rich
gentry, with thirty millions of dollars?
The grand point of interest to know is,
does France approve of all this? Is Napoleon going to stay as well as Maximilian. If so, a fore gun war on the back of domestic troubles is imminent.
The United States Government has gone too far to recede. It has pledged its support to Juarez and demanded the withdrawal of the French troops. The last not complied with, the next step is the movement of arms, and a renewal of shell fires and drum beats is near at hand.

Suppose Napoleon has determined to fight rather than be driven out of Mexico—the next port of interest is, has he done so without an understanding with England. We lately copied a grievous from a leading London journal,

over the patent fact that Jonathan had bullied John Bull to the point of National disgrace, and on the top of it allances the vexatious spectre of Francism armed and organized in the United States. Suppose England had joined France, and the two have made up their minds that there are powers "strong enough to say 'No' to Amer can dictation." What then? A war of tremendous magnitude between the two great Powers of Europe, and the great Power of the United States, but still staggering under a load of National war debt,
and weakened by the unhealed wounds
of that war. The subject is a rich world of speculation as to all the consequences. But it is useless to indulge in them until the facts are verified.

It may be added the passengers by the "Caribbean" from Vera Cruz were confident that there was no appearance
nor purpose of French evacuation.

DISTRIBUTIONS.

We would call attention to the opinion of one of the leading papers of Canada on this subject:

Most of our readers have no doubt read
some of the numerous advertisements of Gift Enterprises Gift Concerns, &c., which appear from time to time in the public prints, offering most tempting bargains to those who will patronize them. In most cases these are genuine offerings. But there are a few respectable firms who do business in this manner, and they do it as a means of increasing their wholesale business, and not to make money. From such firms, it is true, handsome and valuable articles are procured for a very small sum, and what is more important, no one is ever cheated. Every one gets good value for his dollar; because as we have stated, it is intended to act as an advertisement to increase their ordinary business.

We have seen numbers of prizes sent out in this way by SHUMAN, WATSON, & COMP-ANY, of Nassau Street, N. Y., and there is no doubt that some of the articles are worth
eight or ten times the money paid for them, while we have not seen or heard of a single article which was not fully worth the dollar which it cost. But this is only one of the exceptions of this rule, for as a general thing
the parties engaged in this business are not but clever swindlers.

The Ghosts of Long Ago.

BY M. W. BROWNELL.

When I sit there alone,
Thinking of the past and gone—
While the clock with drowsy finger,
Marks how long the minutes linger,
And the embers, dimly burning,
Tell of life that's past returning—
Then my lonely chair around,
With a murmur soft and low,
Come the ghosts of long ago.

One by one I count them o'er,
Voices that are heard no more,
Tears that longed fingers have wet,
Words whose music lingers yet;
Holy faces, pale and fair,
Shadowy locks of waving hair;
Happy signs and whispers dear,
Songs forgotten many a year;
Lips of dewy fragrance; eyes
Brighter bluer than the skies—
Odors breathed from paradise.

And the gentle shadows glide,
Softly murmuring at my side,
Till the long unfringed day,
All forgotten fades away.

Thus, when I am all alone,
Dreaming o'er the past and gone,
All around me, sad and slow,
Come the ghosts of long ago.

Drifting.

Drifting out into the moonlight,
Heeding no longer the oars—
Hearing no longer ripples
That break on the fast-fading shores.

Out from the land shade to brightness,
Out from the land into the sea,
Till we glide from the world into glory,
And float o'er a broad golden fleece.

Softly the leaves of the lilies
Tap on the boat, as we go;
And faint o'er the water is wafted
The loon's mournful cry, sad and low.

See how the lily leaves sparkle;
Jewels they seem in this shew;
See the bright star, like their setting,
Flash from below and between!

Sometimes this rapture of moonlight
Bring men long yearning pain;
But tonight, with the glory a mantle
Of peace o'er my spirit is laid.

If through this pathway refulgent,
Heaven should break on our eyes—
Scarcely could it add to the present,
Scarcely awaken surprise!

Ah! to float on thus forever—
Or in that group to the west,
Mooring our bark by the moonlight,
Find them the Isles of the Blest!

The speaker who was "drawn out"
measured eighteen inches more than before.

Why should marriage be spoken of as a tender tie when nothing but death can cut it.

Tea kettles are decidedly Yankee in their melody; they sing through their noses.

When is the best time to read the book of nature? When autumn turns the leaves.

An exchange says: "Lovers, like armies generally get along quietly enough until they are engaged."

Squibb asked his friend why he married so little a wife? "Why," said he, "I thought you had known that of all evils we should choose the least."

Did you ever see a man who expected
not to become a Christian before the day of his death?

"Did you ever see a preacher who thought he had a call" from a high salary to a low one?

Did you ever know a merchant who did not sell "ten per cent" cheaper than any other merchant in town?

Did you ever see an old maid who had not refused many flat or ug proposals of marriage from young gentlemen and wealthy young men in her juvenile days?

Did you ever have a friend who, when you "didn't know what to do with your loose change," couldn't suggest some means of relieving you from your perplexity.

Did you ever see a stinky fellow who was temperate from principle, or a fool who considered it repulsive to joke, or a young lady whose age did not remain stationary after she had reached twenty? Did you ever?

An Irishman remarked to his companion on observing a lady pass: "Pat, did you ever see a woman so thin as that?" "Thin," replied the other, "I've seen a woman as thin as two of her put together."

A pair of lovers fleeing from stern and cruel parents, were married in the cars near St. Louis the other day. Papa telegraphed to the conductor to "send his daughter back," but he telegraphed back, "never return fair on this road."

"Which is the strongest day?"
"Sunday."
"Why so?"

"Because all the rest are week days!"
"Very good, but if Sunday is the strongest how comes it to be the only one that can be broken?"

Reading makes a full man, conversation a ready man, and writing an exact man.

Wit is the lighting of the mind, reason the sunbath, and reflection the moonlight.

In Chancery

Mandeville & Stewart, } At Rules before

the Register of the Southern District of Alabama, Dec. 3d, 1866.

THIS day came the complainants by their

Scholars L. S. Caldwell, and moved

and prayed the Register to make in Chancery for the 30th District, Northern Chancery Division of Alabama, for an order of publication against James K. P. Bagley, a non-resident defendant residing in Mississippi, and it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register from an affidavit on file, that the said defendant is a non-resident of the State of Alabama, and resides in the State of Mississippi, post office not known.

It is therefore ordered by the Register, that publication be made in the Jacksonville Responder, a weekly newspaper printed and published in the Town of Jacksonville, Ala.,

for four consecutive weeks, requiring

defendants to appear before the said

Register in his office in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, on Monday the 4th day of January, next, by 12 o'clock of said day

to plead, answer or demur to complaints

and to comply with the order of the Chancery court, and that if he fails to do so, the complaints against him and others, or the sum of money for hearing ex parte as to them,

shall be taken for granted, and a copy of said

order be posted upon the court house door of

Calhoun County, Alabama, in the Town of Jacksonville, within twenty days after the date of this order.

Granted December 3d, 1866.
